

Pitch for Women Safety Band

Hello, my name is Rehan Ahmed Khan.

I am building a Women Safety Band — not just a product, but a life-saving device.

In India, every day, thousands of women step out with fear.
Fear of harassment... fear of not getting help on time.

Today, if something happens, help is often late.
And sometimes... it never comes.

And even when women report crimes, many times they do not get justice...
because there is no strong proof.

That is the problem I want to solve.

With just one touch, our band instantly sends an SOS alert, shares live location, and starts real-time audio and video recording and streaming to family members and the police.

This means, even if someone does not stop... at least the proof is captured, and the criminal can be identified and punished later.

Even if the phone is not accessible, the band still works — because in danger, every second matters.

Our vision is simple — to make every woman feel safe, anywhere, anytime.

We are building this at scale, making it affordable, and planning partnerships with the government and CSR to reach millions.

This is not just a startup.
This is a mission to save lives.

Thank you.
